

BANKRUPTCY QUESTIONNAIRE

Any form of bankruptcy or other procedure resulting in the avoidance of lawful debts is inconsistent with scriptural standards of conduct. Perhaps most importantly, bankruptcy often brings reproach upon the cause of Christ. However, in some forms of bankruptcy, debtors can reaffirm and pay all of their debts. Further, debtors are free to voluntarily pay debts that have been discharged in bankruptcy. There may be cases in which extenuating circumstances warrant a decision based on mercy. Because each situation is unique, each case must be resolved on the basis of its own facts and circumstances rather than on the basis of general rules. To assist us in evaluating any bankruptcy proceeding that you have filed, please answer the following questions. If you need additional space, please attach additional sheets.

Name: _____

1. Have you ever filed for bankruptcy: No Yes (If yes, please answer the following questions.)
2. How many times have you filed for bankruptcy? _____
3. When did each bankruptcy occur? _____
4. For each bankruptcy filing, what type of bankruptcy did you pursue:
 Chapter 7 Chapter 13 Other _____
5. For each bankruptcy filing, did you reaffirm and pay, or agree to pay, all debts as part of the bankruptcy plan? Yes No
6. Was each bankruptcy completed prior to the date of your conversion? Yes No
7. Are you willing to reaffirm and pay debts that were canceled, in whole or in part, in a previous bankruptcy? Yes No
8. Have you participated in financial counseling or taken other steps to avoid the need to file for bankruptcy in the future? No Yes (If yes, please explain below.)
